BOLSHEVIKI SEEK TO STABILIZE FINANCIAL AND OTHER AFFAIRS

By Associated Press

MOSCOW April 24—While the Genoa delegation is trying to agree with the European powers for economic aid to soviet Russia the bolshevik government is seeking to stabilize financial and other affairs at home

The all-Russian and communist party congress has been the preliminary battlefield on which this international struggle against financial chaos has been fought

Against the few remaining communist members who still cling to the idea that money should be eliminated M Sokolnikoff, assistant to the commissioner of finance supported by the majority carried his point that a sound monetary system for soviet Russia can be gained only by capitalizing the issue of paper money and by collecting taxes, to bring the money back to the government

Sokolnikoff said that Russia's industry and economic resistence was now dependent on the amount of hard and foreign money the government could get into its hands To attempt to go to a gold standard immediately he declared would be futile as the recent attempt to calculate taxes etc on a gold basis had failed because of the impossibility of settling exchange rates quickly enough to keep up with the market fluctuations

SHAWNEE REQUESTS AN INVESTIGATION OF ACTIVITIES OF KLAN

PETITION OF TAX PAYERS IS SUBMITTED TO DISTRICT ATTORNEY.

CLAIM OFFICIAL ROSTER PRESENTED TO GOVERNOR

County and City Officials and Members National Guard Said to Be Members.

OKLAHOMA CITY April 24—A petition for a grand jury investigation of the Ku Klux Klan at Shawnee supplemented by an expose of alleged activities of the order has been submitted by tax payers of Pottawatomie county to District Judge Hal Johnson at Shawnee it was learned over long distance telephone today from Shawnee Judge Johnson admitted the petition had been presented and his only comment was that he would call a grand jury 'when I get ready

What was purported to be the official roster of the Ku Klux Klan at Shawnee with other records of the organization which were reported to have disappeared several days ago were presented to Governor J B A Robertson Saturday together with a copy of the petition although a statement from the governor's office today said that the Shawnee situation had no connection with the issue of a general order by Governor Robertson made public yesterday, barring members of the Ku Klux Klan from the Oklahoma national guard

The petition charges that the mayor, five members of the Shawnee city council the chief of police and all patrolmen except three are sworn members of the klan and that the administration of the laws are purposely choloroformed by the klan

In a motion for a change of venue in the case of George Stamper, charged with the murder of Crawford C Herrin it is stated that one J Walker' is the Shawnee 'Cyclopis of the Ku Klux Klan while its secretary is Major C M Reber commander of the national guard in that district The motion was filed at the same time the petition for the grand jury was presented and declares that Stamper cannot receive a fair trial because of the widespread membership of the Ku Klux Klan

Major Reber in a long distance telephone conversation with a local newspaper today declined to affirm or deny the report of his membership in the order according to the paper

The document purporting to reveal some of the activities of the klan points out that nearly 20 persons within the past six months have been seized by armed, masks usually disguised and taken to the outskirts of Shawnee, where they were unmercifully beaten and whipped

The governor's order calls upon all officers and men of the guard affiliated with any organization whose purpose might conflict with their duty to the state and nation to immediately foreswear the organization or get out of the guard

Pointing out that what purports to be proof that a number of officers of the national guard are members of the klan the governor's order said there is no room in the Oklahoma national guard for any officer or man who owes an allegiance to any power, secret organization or society that might become arrayed against the United States or Oklahoma and its laws

POSTPONE TRIAL OF MRS. RAIZEN FOR A REPORT ON SANITY

COMMISSION NAMED TO EXAMINE WOMAN IN MURDER CASE

CHARGED WITH SLAYING A BROOKLYN PHYSICIAN

Follows Close On Heels of the Trial Of Miss Stone in a Similar Case

NEW YORK April 24—Trial of Mrs Lillian Raizen charged with the murder of Dr Abraham Glickstein in his Brooklyn office has been indefinitely postponed pending the report of a commission which has been examining her sanity District Attorney Kresel announced today

The case of Mrs Lillian Raizen who shot Dr Abraham Glickstein Brooklyn physician death in his office last December followed close on the heels of the trial of Miss Olivia M Stone graduate nurse who recently was acquitted of a charge of murdering Elias Kinkead former congressman of Cincinnati in Brooklyn last fall

Indeed the cases have points of similarity

In both cases the defendants have told a tale of betrayal at the hand of the man they killed In both cases a defense of insanity was made or indicated In both cases a triangle existed

A estimate of Miss Stone's acts in the Raymond street jail Mrs Raizen followed closely every move in the Kinkead case and at night the two women would sit up late chatting over details of the trial

Another point at which the cases crossed trails came shortly after the acquittal of Miss Stone when Mrs Anna Glickstein the physician's widow leaped to her death from a window in her home

Any woman can commit murder now Mrs Glickstein said before she killed herself especially a woman like Mrs Raizen She will be freed too All she will have to do is to say she was insane

As dramatic as the suicide of the widow was the death of the physician's aged mother Dr Glickstein dazing on the bier of her beloved son she fell dead across the coffin

The shooting itself occurred in the doctor's office

Three patients were waiting to see him among them Mrs Raizen heavily veiled She was called into the office, remained a few moments and left hurriedly When other patients opened the door of Glickstein was found dead Mrs Raizen had fired three shots with a muff killed her victim through her muff

Then after police had hunted in vain for two days for the slayer she gave herself up to district attorney She told that Glickstein before her marriage had wronged her and that he forced her to submit to two operations which he himself performed

OFFICERS CAPTURE CAR AND TWO MEN, GET $1100 REWARD

EARLY MORNING VIGIL AT RIVER BRIDGE LEADS TO IMPORTANT CATCH.

NUMBERING EQUIPMENT IS FOUND IN GRIP

Arrests Made On Information Received From Lawton Sunday Evening.

Two young men a Ford sedan and a gripful of wiring and number changing equipment were captured by local officers at 2 a m Monday on the Wichita river bridge Thereby the four officers participating in the capture became entitled to share in $1 100 in rewards—$1 000 for the capture of the two men and $100 for the car

Apprised by telephone from Lawton that the two men and the car were en route here the four officers stationed themselves two on the south end of the bridge and two at the point where the Burkburnett road meets the Electra highway When the car turned on to the Electra road the waiting officers fell in behind it signaling to their comrades not to let it pass the bridge so that when the fugitives got on the bridge they found their progress blocked they started to reverse but found their retreat blocked also Capture was effected with little difficulty

Officers Clint Davis Belcher and Shook participated in the capture The two young men well dressed and well groomed said that they had borrow d the car from a friend in Burkburnett and that they were coming to Wichita Falls, but could give no plausible reason for coming

The grip they carried contained dies with numbers on them and two large files, also several pieces of wiring connection The sedan which tallied closely with the description sent from Lawton gave evidence of having had its engine number changed the filings being still visible on the engine The grip also contained two new Oklahoma number plates

Also in the grip were found some playing cards, some spoons and articles of clothing and a piece of heavy wrapping paper on which was a rough sketch apparently the plan of an apartment house Local officers do not attach much significance to the sketch however

The two young men were jailed pending the arrival of officers from Lawton, who were expected Monday afternoon They are booked as held for investigation Neither has the appearance of a crook, officers said

Maple is a flavor that is delightful and wholesome and I would like to see this cake flourish.

RELIGIOUS SPIRIT INSTINCTIVE WITH ALL, SAYS PASTOR

Taking his text from the 102nd Psalm, Dr T S Pittenger last night at the First M E church preached upon 'The Instinctive Religious Spirit That Leads Us to Trust God" The pastor declared that the Psalmist here had tried to escape from the hard things of life but had found that only faithfulness and faith in God would win out

As we see the wonderful changes going on in the world and its ever changing forces we sometimes wonder if God does not really change,' said the pastor

'David said 'the mountains shall be lost and the seas shall change but with Thee there is no change,' so I want to call your attention to the fact that the instinctive religious spirit is universal and is also unchangeable. There has never been a race of people found that did not believe in some sort of religion It is built into man's nature and he cannot get away from it If we are normal human beings there is a consciousness of a power and a directing hand beyond us Dr McCosh has shown by mathematics that God has never made a single mistake in the creation of the world and the mixing of the elements thereof God has never combined the wrong elements for us in our food though man often does

Paul says there are evidences enough so that every man may recognize the divine creator A noted writer says that races have been found without a city and without any forms of government but that none has ever been found that did not have an altar of some kind so I suggest first, that the belief in God is an universal thing in religion and second, that we need the consciousness of the immortality of God and of His ability to save us in the trials and temptations of life Whether we follow God or not we cannot escape the intuitive belief in Him and the only way we can disbelieve this is to shut him out of our lives

If there is a dark thing in all the world it is to shut out the hope of the immortality of the soul No matter how much we may shut religion out of our lives it will creep back in when severe trials and death face us There are two things in life that will not change besides God and those are our belief in God and the hope of the immortality of the soul We may reach up and touch God by prayer and if we are sincere He will give us the strength we need

'God is not on the side of the strong always as Napoleon claimed He was with Washington at Valley Forge and history proves that the man with trust in God will win if his cause is right Men have feared that science will cut away the foundations of the church but the church has been building more than ever since then There has been much discussion of evolution but God works through His own plan of evolution for the development of all things and the destructive forces of the world have been introduced by someone that has shut God out of his life Because so many men have shut God out of their lives He sent His only Son into the world in whom no one could find any fault We are losing some things in this world but we are not losing our love for Christ and the hope of immortality

"The things that have hurt the world in the past have been the separation of the morals from the religious customs, and unless we lift ourselves up from the things that destroy us and get hold of that which alone can sustain us in every trial and temptation of life, the love of God and His power to save, our religion is in vain"

OFFICER, AIRDALE CHAIN AND 2 MEN MIXED UP IN HEAP

As the result of taking the plaintiff in a case in which a dog was attached with him to serve the writ of attachment Constable Frank Morgan had a novel experience late Saturday evening Before the scene ended the Airedale dog, the officer and two men had enacted a scrimmage that had resemblance to a Yale-Harvard football game.

After Mr Morgan had loosed himself from the entanglement which had been made more binding by the lengthy chain attached to the dog, he attempted to act in the capacity of referee He blew his whistle, but it had no effect He finally succeeded in separating the two men Each one of them were badly bruised

It appears that in some manner Mr Man No 2 had secured possession of the dog which was claimed by Mr Man No 1 Mr Man No 2 who resides on Polk street refused to give up ownership and consequently the claimant sued out a writ of attachment

GOVERNOR THRILLS BIG AUDIENCE WITH ADDRESS ON SERVICE

CHIEF EXECUTIVE OF STATE SPEAKS HERE SUNDAY AFTERNOON.

"WE PASS THIS WAY BUT ONCE" IS THEME

Favors Disfranchising of Those Who Do Not Exercise Right Of Suffrage.

In a non-political address before an audience that filled the Wichita theater to its capacity Governor Neff both thrilled and inspired his hearers Sunday afternoon when he spoke on the theme of man's duty to his fellow man

The address eloquently phrased and very forcefully delivered made a profound impression upon the audience, members of whom were hearty and emphatic in their praise of it

Governor Neff was introduced by Judge J T Montgomery

The governor early in his talk declared his disbelief in the Darwinian theory of man's origin saying the beginning of mankind was in the council chambers of the heavens His address was a plea for making life worth while for meeting obligations to fellowman to country and to the Creator and he dwelt with emphasis and eloquence on the fact that but one opportunity is given man to measure up to the pattern set for him in these things

Mr Neff was severe in his criticism of those who neglect to participate in public affairs

'There ought to be a law said the governor "taking away for ten years the franchise rights of every man who fails to go to the polls and vote on election day The thugs and crooks never fail to go if they can'

The governor declared that sacrificial service is the true test of life and that it is a far better test than wealth or power or fame

The greatest of all men said the governor in conclusion, are those who are true to the everyday duties and responsibilities of life

Shortly after his address here Governor Neff motored to Electra where he addressed a large crowd at 5 p m Sunday night he spoke at the Baptist tabernacle at Vernon to an immense crowd

STORY HANDWRITING TELLS

Expert Reads Secrets Between the Lines

By ALBERT J SMITH

The specimen shown here was written by Woodrow Wilson in 1912

Wilson pens the adolescent form of writing with tendencies to the adolescent This shows he is of amiable disposition with a keen mind modified by calmness and a certain dullness of perception — particularly on matters of little concern to him

The tendency is to small writing with the forward or right slope Persons who write in this manner are conservative tactful and have much force of character Small writing also indicates intellectuality and the desire for knowledge No person of mediocre ability ever writes the small hand

Greek "D"

That Wilson is trained in literary matters is attested to by his frequent use of the Greek form of the letter 'd' It is the confirmative sign of literary ability

The high cast of the 'd' stem in Woodrow which is a variation of his Greek form signifies dignity self-respect and a high sense of honor

Wilson's script is simple and plain Persons who write in this manner are unaffected unassuming honest dutiful modest and of good character His writing is uniform and well spaced this implies a well-balanced mind The small writing confirms this

There is a slight tendency to lastiness This denotes Wilson has the ability to accomplish much without effor

Wilson frequently joins his words This denotes a critical mind skeptical of what is not understood This feature also signifies he is keen minded shrewd logical hard to convince

Wilson possesses business ability literary tastes mental culture and an artistic temperament therefore he writes with plain capitals

The high dot over the i in Wilson the open o s in Woodrow and the high upstroke of the looped small letter d' stamp him a man of honor of the highest integrity with a love of justice He is the type of man who cannot be swerved from a line of duty

WORLD'S CHAMPION STEER BULLDOGGER WILL COMPETE HERE

Visitors to the roundup, which will be staged at the ball park May 3, 4 and 5, will see the champion of mankind's roughest sport in action against the stiffest opposition, and they may see him dethroned and sheared of his title, says an announcement from roundup headquarters, which adds

'Frank McCarroll of Boise Idaho world's champion steer bulldogger, has entered and will defend his title at the coming roundup McCarroll is also holder of the world's fastest bulldogging record Slim Caskey of this city made the remarkable time of eleven seconds flat on one occasion and then went to bat again and lowered his own record to ten and three-fifths seconds Then while Slim's friends were predicting that his record would hold for years, McCarroll comes along and clips three whole seconds from the time Picture a cowboy giving a wild longhorn two lengths start riding his horse up to the side of the fast running bovine leaping upon the animal, grabbing it by the horns and wrestling it down in seven and three-fifths seconds and you have a mental vision of this Idaho wildcat in action

'Even at that McCarroll will have to look well to his laurels in the contest here He is entered against a score of the fastest and most fearless men of the plains, to say nothing of our own Slim Caskey who has the same habit as our ball team, that of coming from behind and winning when the game looks lost Anyway Wichitans will be out there rooting for Slim and hoping that the big fellow will cop McCarroll's title'

CONGRESS TO AGAIN TAKE UP FARM LOAN PROJECT THIS TERM

OPERATIONS OF WAR FINANCE CORPORATION MAY BE CURTAILED.

FARMERS HAVE PASSED THE THREATENED CRISIS

Increase In Price of Agricultural Products Puts Them on Sound Financial Basis.

By MARK SULLIVAN
National Political Correspondent of the New York Evening Post and Wichita Daily Times

WASHINGTON April 24—Up to the armed to present the most important single factor among those which have operated to pull the country out of the economic distress of six months ago has been the advancing of government money through the war finance corporation to persons in distress through holding farm products at prices lower than the cost of production

SULLIVAN

The testimony is universal that the farmers and the local banks and business men in farming communities are now safely past the crisis that menaced them during the latter part of 1921 They are not wholly happy of course because the prices of farm products are still lower than the high peak of two years ago Moreover while the prices of most farm products have gone high enough to permit liquidation without great loss there are still a few farm products so low that the prices represent an unpleasant contrast with the cost of production

This is particularly true in some branches of the livestock industry The period of bringing livestock to maturity and sale extends not over a single season but over several seasons, and some holders who bought and fed livestock at the prices of two or three years ago are not wholly free from distress

This however is about the only field in which the change both of actual conditions and of psychology has not been complete It is not merely that the distress of six months ago is ended What is even more important is that a progressive distress which would have become steadily worse and which would have ended without any doubt in a widespread feeling of panic has been avoided

Many local banks in the farming districts have been saved from bankruptcy and the farming and business communities attached to those banks have been saved from the intense and prolonged trouble that would have followed Many farmers and other holders of farm products have been saved from foreclosure

Escaped a Crisis

The operations of the government have by no means restored every person to what was his position during the 1920 period of abundance and some farmers and others whose cases were the worst have not been saved at all But speaking in general terms the whole psychology of the country has been altered the most competent judges of such matters now believing that we have not only escaped a crisis but that the country has actually been started on a period of prosperity The degree of this prosperity in the near future may not attain the proportions which the most optimistic expect It must be restrained in some degree by the conditions of international trade But it still remains true we are securely started on a course of rising volume of business

Among the factors which add to to this are the weather and other crop conditions in the farming states. There has been a frost in California which has affected some of the fruit crops but aside from that throughout the country as a whole the start of the coming farming year is described by persons who watch such things closely in terms of great enthusiasm There has been moisture wherever it was needed in better proportions than during any spring in the past five or six years

The psychology of the farmers is favorable They feel easier as to the present and more assured as to the future They are disposed to plant large crops Their disposition is to be economical about expenditures As regards both farmers and workers there is a disposition to have and the available fund of capital in the country is increasing rapidly All these conditions will come to the front in congress shortly when the question arises of what to do about the continuance of the war finance corporation The loaning of money on farm products was instituted last July and its statutory period was one year What will be done about continuing it must become a subject of debate and legislation in the near future

One course would be for the government to cease lending more money and to abolish the war finance corporation except for the purposes of collecting the money that has been loaned a process which necessarily must take a period of years Another possible course would be to continue the war finance corporation with some modification in its methods of operation Probably the disposition of the agricultural interests in congress will be to continue the institution on a large scale The obvious fact is that the lending of government money on farm products was started as an emergency measure that this emergency is now safely ended and that the original justification for the use of government money in this way no longer exists As a continuing government operation during normal times it will be hard to justify the institution Except in the emergency there is no better fundamental reason for loaning money to farmers than for loaning it to manufacturers When congress approaches this subject during the next few weeks we should see an interesting debate

Dynamite Cruiser Of Santiago Fame Is Junked by Navy

WASHINGTON, April 24—The old navy 'dynamite' cruiser Vesuvius in Spanish war days hailed as the possible pioneer craft of a new naval era has been sold as junk to J Lipsitz of Chelsea, Mass for $4 260 Like many other novel craft which were expected to sweep the seas the dynamite ship' failed utterly and was discarded

The Vesuvius did see real war In 1898 when the American fleet concentrated before Santiago De Cuba she steamed down to join the grim ring of steel with three slanting slender muzzle of her dynamite guns thrusting upward from the sweep of her forward deck From these weapons operated by compressed air, huge projectiles loaded with nitro-glycerine sufficient, it was said, to tear apart any ship or fortification on which they landed were to be hurled

Wild conjectures filled the newspapers as to the terrible damage such an engine of war would do to Spain's ships and the forts that guarded the harbor

When she cruised with her trio of dynamite shooters and joined the fleet she was finally ordered to hurl death and destruction into the wall of Morro Castle When at the close range necessary because of the low power of the air guns she finally 'let go' a terrible roar came back that shook the earth and sent frightened residents scurrying

But it proved to be olny sound When Santiago fell and examination was possible it was found that no damage had been done

COMMISSIONERS IN FAVOR OF OUTLET ON LAMAR STREET

COUNTY ENGINEER STATES IT WILL COST $3,000 LESS THAN ON OHIO.

COMMITTEE PRESENTS PETITION OF 325 NAMES

Remainder of Preparation Depends On City Council Acquiring Property.

Members of the commissioners court unanimously expressed themselves Monday morning as favoring the Lamar street route to the County county road which will be paved within the next two months

Property owners along Ohio street as well as other interested citizens have asked the court to take the route down Ohio street and then through Mississippi

A committee composed of J C Hunt, Ralph Hines and Walter Reid presented a petition containing signatures to the court in which it was asked that the outlet to the new road be made down Lamar street and via Jalonick

It was stated that there would be no question whatsoever in choosing this route if it were not for the hairpin turn at the foot of Lamar street Negotiations have been under way for several weeks to acquire a right of way through some property now occupied by the Gulf Production company It was stated that the Gulf officials had stated they would be glad to co operate with the county in this manner

The commissioners informed the committee which waited upon the court that if this property could be secured and permission received to cross the railroad tracks, the court would be in favor of accepting this route The remainder is up to the city council

County Engineer J M Isbell stated to the court that if the Lamar street exit could be satisfactorily arranged it would cost the county $1 000 less than the Ohio street route

Commissioners also stated that in addition to this there was some objection in routing the road down Ohio and Mississippi on account of the many railroad tracks over the latter route

C. OF C. TO DISCUSS INTERVENTION ON REDISTRICTING BILL

MAY TAKE PART IN TEST CASE SOON TO BE TRIED AT AUSTIN.

DIRECTORS MEETING CALLED FOR TUESDAY

Local Sentiment Is That Test Of Law Should Be Made in Good Faith.

Wichita Falls may intervene, on behalf of West Texas generally, in the suit soon to be tried at Austin testing the representative redistricting bill passed at the last session of the legislature

A meeting of chamber of commerce directors has been called for Tuesday morning at which the matter will come up for consideration

The Times of Sunday contained a report of the proposed test, and Wichitans who are interested in the matter feel that some West Texas county directly interested should be represented, so that any test that is made is carried out in good faith The matter can be tested by seeking to mandamus the chairman of the state democratic executive committee to put names of candidates for representatives for the new district on the official ballot.

Wichita Falls is vitally interested in the outcome of the test By reason of the fact that this county would gain two additional representatives under the bill. The bill is in danger of being declared invalid owing to the fact that Swisher county was left entirely out of any district

CHAPTER I

It was early afternoon and down in the hollow which shielded the scrambling little town of Dominion the air was warm and lazy with the friendliness of May

A long sleek, yellow racer came to a stop beside the gas tank and wheezed into silence A young man rose from his almost flat position in the low-slung driver's seat, stretched himself and stared upward toward the glaring white of Mount Taluchcen, the highest peak of the continental backbone, frowning in the coldness of snows that never departed

"Gas"'

"Yep" The young man stretched again, 'Fill up the tank—and better give me half a gallon of oil"

Young he was, almost boyish, yet counterbalancing this was a seriousness of expression that almost approached somberness The eyes were dark with something that approached sorrow, the lips had a tightness about them which gave evidence of the pressure of suffering all forming an expression which seemed to come upon him unaware But in a flash it was gone, and boyish again, he had turned, laughing, to survey the gas tender

"Barry Houston, huh? Must be a new make I——"

"Camouflage" laughed the young man again "That's my name"

'Oh, is it"' and the villager chucked with him "You've got th plate right where th' name o' a car is plastered usually, and it plum fooled me Where you headed for"'

'Over Hazard"

'Ain't daft, are you?"

'I hope not It's May isn't it"'

"Look up there" The old man pointed to the splotches of white thousands of feet above "It may be spring down here, boy, but its January up there They's only been two cars over Hazard since November and they come through last week Both of 'em was old stagers Both of 'em come through here lookin' like icicles an' sweating t' beat four o' a kind"

A thrill shot through Barry Houston His life had been that of the smooth spaces, of the easy ascent of well paved grades, of streets and comforts and of luxuries The very raggedness of the thing before him lured him and drew him on

"They've got me," came quietly "I'm—I'm going to make the try"'

The gears meshed A stream of smoke from the new oil spat out for a second Then, roaring and chortling with the beginning of battle, the machine swept away toward the slight turn that indicated the scraggly end of the little town of Dominion and the beginning of the first grade

'A six per cent grade if it's an inch'" he murmured 'And this is only the beginning"

He settled more firmly in his seat and gripped hard at the steering wheel Gradually, the severity of the grade had increased to 10, to twelve and in short pitches to even eighteen and twenty per cent'

A stop while the red, hissing water splattered from the radiator cock and the lifted hood gave the machine a chance to cool before replenishment came from the murky discolored stream of melted snow water Panting and light-headed from the altitude, Barry leaned against the machine for a moment something touched his face and melted there—snow'

An hour—and three more after that—a last final, clattering journey and Barry leaped from the seat with something akin to enthusiasm

Through the swirling snow which sifted past the glare of his headlights he could discern a sign which told him he had reached the summit that he now stood at the literal top of the world

From now on he could progress with the knowledge that his engine at least need labor no longer But the dangers' Barry knew that they had only begun The descent would be as steep as the climb he had just made

Again he started the brake bands squeaking and protesting the machine sloughing dangerously as now and again its sheer weight forced it forward at dangerous speeds

He grasped desperately for the emergency brake For five minutes there had come the strong odor of burning rubber the foot-brake linings were gone, everything depended upon the emergency now' And almost with the first strain—

Careening the car seemed to leap beneath him The brakes were gone the emergency had not even lasted through the first hill Barry Houston was now a prisoner of speed—cramped in the seat of a runaway car clutching tight at the wheel leaning white tense-faced out into the snow as he struggled to negotiate the turns to hold the great piece of runaway machinery to the road and check its speed from time to time in the snowbanks

One chance was left and Barry took it—the 'burring of the gears in lieu of a brake If the burred gears could only hold the car for a mile or so more—

But a sudden snapping crackle ended his hope The gears had meshed, and meshing had broken Again a wild careening thing the car was speeding down the steepest of grades like a human thing determined upon self-destruction

A skidding curve, then a straightaway, while Barry clung to the wheel with fingers that were white with the tightness of their grip A second turn while a wheel hung over the edge, a third and—

The awful, suspended agony of space A cry A crash and a dull twisting moment of deadened suffering After that—blackness

Slowly wearily Barry Houston opened his eyes

It was the room of a mountain cabin, with its skis and snowshoes His eyes centered upon the form of a girl standing beside the little window

Fair-haired she was though Barry did not notice it Small of build and slight yet vibrant with the health and vigor that is typical of those who live in the open places Dark blue eyes that snapped as she looked out the window watching with evident eagerness the approach of someone Barry could not see Barry felt the instinctive urge to call her, to raise himself—

He winced with a sudden pain a sharp, yet aching throb of agony which involuntarily closed his eyes and clenched tight his teeth until it should pass When he looked again she was gone and the opening of a door in the next room told him where He sought to move an arm—only again to desist in pain He tried the other, and it responded The covers were lowered and Barry's eyes stared down upon a bandaged splinted left arm Broken He turned his head at the sound of a voice—hers—calling from the doorway to someone without.

He's getting along fine, Ba tiste

Barry liked the enthusiastic manner

Oui' Heem no ver bad He be all right tomorrow

'That's good It frightened me for him to be unconscious so long

Lemme see I fin him six o'clock Now—eet is the noon. Six hour Mslieu Thayer he come in the minute He says he think he know heem

The eyes of Barry Houston suddenly lost their curiosity Thayer" Barry had taken particular pains to keep from him the information that he was anywhere except the east.

A second turn, while a wheel hung over the edge, a third and——

For it had been Fred Thayer who had caused Barry to travel across country in his yellow speedster Thayer who—

He say the Mslieu Houston who own the mill had written him he was coming'

In the other room Barry Houston blinked rapidly and frowned He had written Thayer nothing of the sort

The names of two persons flashed across his mind one to be dismissed immediately the other—

I'll fire Jenkins the minute I get back came vindictively I'll—

He choked his words

A moment later—

"How the patient"' It was Thayer's voice, the same Thayer that he once had looked upon with all the enthusiasm and pride of boyhood but whom he now viewed with suspicion and distrust

'Guess I'll go in and stay with him until he wakes up He's my boss you know—since the old man died

Within the bedroom, Barry Houston gritted his teeth Then with a sudden resolve, he rested his head again on the pillow and closed his eyes Barry could feel that the man was bending over him studying him There came a murmur

Wonder what the damn fool came out here about' Wonder if he's wise'

CHAPTER II

It was with an effort that Houston gave no indication that he had heard Before there had been only suspicions and he had not hoped to have from the lips of the man himself a confession that conditions were not right at the lumber mill of which Barry Houston was the executive head But now—

Thayer had turned away and evidently sought a chair at the other side of the room Barry remained perfectly still When at last he did look up into the narrow sunken face it was with eyes which carried in them no light of recognition Thayer put forth a gnarled hand

'I'm Thayer, you know—Thayer your manager at the Empire Lake mill

'Have I a manager'

The thin man drew back at this and stood for a moment staring down at Houston

Barry turned his head wearily

I don't know what you are talking about

'You—don't say you're Barry Houston aren't you?'

'I' Am I

'Well then who are you?'

'I don't know myself'

Thayer turned and walked to the door

Ba tiste'

Ah oui

Mr Houston doesn't seem to be able to remember who he is'

WANT TO KNOW TO WHAT EXTENT THIS STATE WILL BENEFIT FROM PROJECT

STAMFORD, TEXAS, April 24—The west Texas chamber of commerce has addressed a communication to Hon Claude Hudspeth member of congress of the El Paso district and a member of the national house of representatives asking him to what extent west Texas will be affected by the creation of a proposed revolving fund of $3,000,000,000 for the purpose of assisting irrigation projects It is reported from Washington that President Harding favors such a project There seems to be some apprehension on the part of Texans as to whether or not Texas projects might participate in the benefits of such a creation This apprehension is brought about because the reclamation department at Washington has in the past been very reticent about favoring federal irrigation aid to Texas projects claiming that because there is no federal land in Texas that the federal government is morally inhibited from spending federal irrigation money in this state Federal aid however given in the Elephant Butte project represented a breaking down of such policy A considerable portion of the lands irrigated by the Elephant Butte projects are located in Texas It is the view of the west Texas chamber of commerce that Texas like every other state is entitled to the fullest participation in all federal irrigation aid plans

PUBLIC SERVICE and PUBLIC OPINION

Success in public service depends upon public opinion. Public Service—heat, power and light, etc., is a part of the prosperity of a community.

Public Service vitally concerns every person and every industry in the city, or in the town, where it is located. Public Service is, in fact, PERSONAL SERVICE.

We all know that the quality of personal service which we receive depends largely upon the degree of our personal co-operation and consideration for those who serve us. Maintain an unfriendly attitude toward public service, and you injure every individual in your community, you hamper development, you balk business.

Unfriendliness toward public service is in reality unfriendliness toward the public itself. Constant criticism—without understanding; knocking, without investigation, all tends to react against your own interest.

Public Service is not defending itself. It needs no defense. It is potent that public service, by its very nature, is more interested in doing the right thing than are its critics.

The successful manager of a gas company knows positively that the public's interest is paramount. One of the greatest contemporary writers in the United States says: "I do not know a class of business men who are trying harder and succeeding more in their efforts to build up towns and cities, local interests and industries, than those of the public service companies. They are co-operating with the cities all over the country to create more industry. They are helping in every possible way to build better and bigger business in the towns where they are located."

PUBLIC SERVICE AND PUBLIC OPINION ARE INTERDEPENDENT

SPECIAL ELECTION MAY 13

FOR CONGRESS

Thirteenth District

DEMOCRATIC PRIMARY JULY 22

To the People of the Thirteenth Congressional District:

A congressman is to be elected in this district for the next two years. We present for your consideration the name of Senator Guinn Williams of Decatur, Texas. We are his neighbors, living in the same county with him; most of us have known him intimately for several years. He is a life-long Democrat, always found in the ranks battling for the good of his country and party. He is an upright Christian gentleman—one of the very best neighbors, and the truest friend one ever had. When his country called he was ever ready to answer the call; when his party called the Democrat host to arms to battle for its principles, its tenets, he asked no further questions, but with the Democrats' declaration of war in hand, his only inquiry was: "Where is the enemy that dares tread upon the peoples' rights?" and the battle was on.

From his earliest boyhood the cry of the distressed found a sympathetic hearer and a ready helper in him. From his early youth to his present status, he has heeded the admonition, "Remember thy father and thy mother." As a business man he adopted as his slogan, "Honesty is the best policy" and on this principle, adding to it economy and industry, he has succeeded. His neighbors have always found him ready to help them to bear their burdens. As an officer in this county, he applied the same principles as he used in his own business and succeeded in honoring the office, as well as the office honoring him. As a thinker and statesman we point you to his record from his earliest manhood, culminating in his record as a Senator.

Having a splendid personality and a happy way of meeting people, armed with a great fund of business and political information, and a diplomatic mind, no wonder on entering upon his duties as a Senator he at once took front rank. His great work and service in the Senate will appeal to all men and women who believe in great Democratic principles; you will not be disappointed if he is elected. He has never disappointed anyone who put his trust in him.

We, the undersigned Democratic citizens of Wise County, Texas, hereby endorse Guinn Williams of Decatur, Texas, as a candidate for Congress from the Thirteenth Congressional District of Texas and will do all in our power to fairly and honestly secure his nomination at the Democratic Primary Election to be held July 22, 1922, and we pledge ourselves at all proper times and places to work, talk and vote for his election.

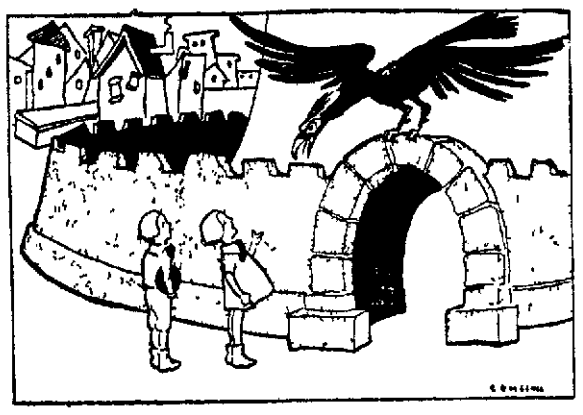
ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

THE FURIOUS FALCON

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON



"Who goes there?" demanded the falcon.

The furious falcon was strutting up and down the top of the thick stone wall which surrounded King Indig's palace It was a huge bird bright red and as large as 10 eagles

Moreover it was as good as an army for every feather in his big strong wings was made of steel and sharp pointed like arrows These he had the power to shoot a hundred at a time if need be or a thousand if a powerful enemy should appear

As the falcon walked up and down over the high gate that led into the palace gardens he kept peering about in all directions being able to see for miles and to shoot as far as he could see Moreover his arrows returned instantly to their places so that he never ran out of a supply He was the only guard that King Indig had—or needed—and everyone including the king's subjects were afraid of him

"Who goes there" demanded the falcon when Nancy and Nick accompanied by a crowd of the blue-headed Diddyevers arrived at the gate

"We're not going" said Nick "We're coming May we see King Indig"

Instantly the Diddyevers began to groan with fear It was the first time in the memory of their oldest inhabitant that anyone had dared to contradict this most respected guard of the king's gate

"I think you may" replied the falcon with a snap of his great beak "For he will have you beheaded instantly and that's what you need"

Then we couldn't finish our journey Nancy informed him pluckily

"What journey"

"To the Korshnotts"

"Ha" shrieked the falcon "You shall be twice beheaded for mentioning our enemies"

"I don't know what would have happened if things had gone on but the red feather that had befriended the Twins jumped from its place and made some signs

The falcon jerked his head stubbornly "Go on in" he said at last "The king's playing hop-scotch on one of his billiard tables"

MANY CONVERSIONS RESULT SUNDAY IN BAPTIST SERVICES

Capacity attendance at each service and a number of additions to the church resulted Sunday at the revival meeting at the First Baptist church conducted by Dr L. R. Scarborough of Fort Worth

Following the Sunday school service in which more than 20 people accepted Christ Dr Scarborough preached on the theme In the Cross of Christ I Glory He pointed out as to how Paul no doubt the greatest man ever known except Jesus is today the means of saving many souls

The apostle through his writings is still a mighty power even though he lived far more than a thousand years ago During his life 14 years of which were spent in jail he was victor in being able to lead kings before whom he was tried to Christ Can we truthfully say we have sacrificed aught for the cause of righteousness when we look on such a record

Thirty people united with the church following the morning and evening services the subject of the latter being Repentance or The first step toward salvation

One feature of the meetings is the number of prominent business men who are taking their stand for Christ and the church A more perfect organization for winning the lost is being put into operation and

CHAPTER XXI—KITCHEN CHAOS

By a Bride

You May Begin Here.

Despite the bride's efforts to live an independent life after marriage she finds she cannot escape from fetters She returns from her amateur theatrical club worrying over financial difficulties caused by her purchase of an expensive furniture set

It was almost dinner time when I reached home after that trying day at the Little Playhouse Not until I turned the key of my apartment did I remember in what a sad state I had left my suite

The bed was unmade Jack's pajamas adorned his shoe box my house dress decorated a chair the bathroom was strewn with damp towels dust covered my handsome new davenport and all the kitchen utensils I owned were piled in the sink side by side with my adorable Wedgewood dishes

The cooking things had stood for 24 hours since dinner the night before And I positively hated them as if they were at fault—and not I

I rushed into my white uniform and hurried about my work I hoped to put the place in some kind of order before my husband arrived To add this chaos to our recent discussion of finances was unthinkable

But where to begin? I turned to my kitchen Never had a pile of pots and pans loomed so formidably

I felt that there was some hitch between my intention as a wife and my accomplishment

For example from an artistic standpoint my little kitchen is quite charming to me Its a tiny room with Pullman table between high backed benches

Checked gingham curtains brighten my windows and my aluminum spoons and saucepans hang on the wall gaily and handily

I love my pretty kitchen when it is in order But when chaos prevails its an utterly depressing spectacle Tired out by the rehearsal and dazed sewing amazed by the confusion which confronted me wherever I turned I began to cry

With hot tears running down my nose I took up my frying pan Before scouring it I melted the fat and inevitably burned my fingers nearly dropped the pan and spilled the grease down the front of my nicest white apron

And that is exactly all I succeeded in accomplishing before my husband came home

For Jack was early He had been interviewing a prospect in our end of town and had rushed home to surprise me

Surely Jack is the most adorable of husbands Never from a glance or a word would I have suspected that he was either surprised or shocked by the state of our flat

I threw off my greasy apron wiped my eyes and smiled and snuggled down on my grand davenport And Jack held me close and neither of us spoke Just being together we seemed to rest each other

Never had I seen Jack look so harassed He shows a nervous strain more than most men He shows it in his eyes and in two vertical wrinkles in his forehead

I was glad that the back of the davenport was toward the kitchen door I smoothed the horrid wrinkles from his brow while demanding the reason for them

Business going badly Bryan the prospect I told you about is closing his factory he explained And I was relying on my percentage to pay part on our furniture bill

I didn't like to be reminded of my extravagance I stopped him with a kiss

QUARTER INCH OF RAIN RECORDED IN CITY AND VICINITY

Showers Saturday night and Sunday netted a total of a quarter inch of rain in this city and vicinity. The rains were general throughout the district touched by the local railroads and approximately the same amount was reported from all points.

Monday morning, however, Altus and Mangum reported heavy rains. At 9 o'clock the agents reported that it had been pouring down for several hours and that there had been no letup. The creeks and ditches, it was said, were rising rapidly to the danger mark.

Altus had had but little rain since early last fall and the Wichita Falls and Northwestern has been compelled to haul water to that place since last December. It was reported Monday morning that the reservoirs were completely filled.

Other points north and west Monday morning also reported more rain and it began here shortly before 9 o'clock. North winds were blowing but the movement was light.

The temperature locally since early Sunday morning until Monday morning wavered but five degrees. The high mark was 69 and the low 64.

OFFICERS SEIZE 10 OUNCES DOPE AT BURKBURNETT

Ten ounces of morphine and cocaine were seized by officers in Burkburnett Sunday and two men—J. E. Smith and James C. Galaway—are under arrest charged with selling and possession of it, in violation of the narcotic act.

One ounce of morphine was sold by the two men for a consideration of $65 and after the sale a search of the house where the two men stayed revealed nine ounces more.

The officers who were in the raid and made the arrest were special narcotic inspector W. G. Nance, Prohibition Enforcement Officer A. Tyler, Ranger M. M. Kuhnsman and City Detective R. T. Schipp.

According to the officers the dope was bought in Juarez, Mexico, and delivered to the two men at a hotel in El Paso. The officers had been working on the case for the past week, having definite information regarding the sale and that it had been taken to Brukburnett.

89TH COURT WILL STAY OPEN DURING JUDGE'S ABSENCE

During the three weeks' absence of Judge P. A. Martin, who will attend the general Methodist conference, the 89th district court will remain open and will not adjourn as was at first proposed. The members of the bar took this action in open court Monday morning.

The court will remain open so that in case counsel want to try non-jury cases, a special judge can be selected.

It was first believed expedient to adjourn court entirely as the federal court will be in session here during that time and the majority of attorneys will be busy in that court. In view of this fact there will be no court room available for the trial of jury cases in the state court.

CHILDRESS GETTING READY TO BUILD BIG DAM FOR PERMANENT WATER SUPPLY

Childress Index.

CHILDRESS, TEXAS, April 22.—Sunday afternoon, Mayor James W. Mitchell, Alderman Tom L. Hardin, H. L. Lamar and a representative of the Index went out to H-K canyon and made a trip around the shore line of proposed Lake Childress. Every small canyon and the bed of the main channel and the valley lands were closely inspected and no fault could be found as to the canyon being suitable for impounding water of a large volume.

The start was made at the stakes set for the northeast end of the dam. The location of the dam was followed until the main channel was reached. Water from the recent rains has filled all the holes and in these holes the water was found to be almost as clear as a crystal. This fact is a proof that the lake when filled will be of clear water and that the water can be filtered and purified at no excessive cost.

Will Form Large Lake

After following the meanderings of the canyon for almost three-quarters of a mile, Mayor Mitchell said that a shore line stake had been set upon the west bank. The party walked to the stake and with a level a clear view of the east shore line was visible. From that point directly north to the northeast end of the dam is more than half a mile and the water will be almost 40 feet in the deepest place. The level was set for a view upstream and the shore line extended for more than a mile.

Long Body of Water

Mayor Mitchell states that if the dam is raised, and in all probability the plans will be changed, the shore line will extend southward for at least two and one-half miles from the dam. About a third of a mile above the dam two other large canyons enter H-K and the water will be backed into these for quite a distance. In fact, these canyons will impound as much water as City lake and Lake Keeler combined. There are many such canyon that water will be backed into for quite a distance.

At the point named above the level showed that the eastern shore line will extend almost a mile to the east. This canyon comes around Carey to the east. It is very wide and deep and will impound three or four times as much water as all the lakes about Childress.

Little Plowed Land Affected

The level showed that very little plowed land will be submerged. It is not believed that with the raise of the dam that more than 20 acres of cultivated lands will be submerged and not in a way to injure the remainder of the fields. In each instance only a small corner of a field will be covered. Nearly all the owners of these fields have informed members of the council that they do not desire pay for the land.

After going over the basin, Mr. Lamar remarked that he had been over much of the county but nowhere had he found so little gypsum pockets and the absolute absence of rock ledges. The bed of the channel is of clay. There are no sink holes or caves anywhere and the nature of the soil is the best for impounding water was the opinion expressed by Mr. Lamar.

Will Increase Land Values

Mr. Lamar remarked that every man owning land around the basin can count himself $10 per acre richer the day the lake is filled. Mr. Lamar said land about the lake will be in demand for summer homes and will sell at fancy prices. He also expressed his opinion that crops will be benefited that are a distance of two miles from the lake.

An Estimate of Size

The lake will be far larger than any citizen of Childress can conceive, unless he looks through an instrument. It will be possible to take boat rides up stream two miles. By following the shore line the distance will be no less than six miles around the lake. The water is going to be very deep in most places, which means less evaporation and seepage. The high hills to the west are going to prove a great protection to the dam during the storm periods, and when the lake once starts to fill the pressure or current will not go against the main dam, but will be turned in a northern direction and out through the spillway. The spillway will be nearer the main basin than the dam. The widest portion of the lake will be a half mile south of the dam, as the water will spread here to a distance of nearly a mile.

Many Visitors Sunday

A number of visitors were out to the damsite Sunday and all expressed themselves as being anxious to see work started. They are of one accord in saying that the lake is going to mean much to Childress and an advertisement that will stop our neighboring towns from knocking. The lake is going to be the largest body of water in the Texas Panhandle and will draw people from towns as far as Amarillo, Canadian, Lubbock and Quanah. Lake Childress will be clearly visible from the railroad, which also means much as travelers naturally ask questions. The Colorado-to-Gulf highway can be changed to go over the dam and no distance will be lost. It will be a great camping place for tourists en route to and from Colorado and Pacific resorts.

Childress people are going to be proud of Lake Childress and will never regret their vote in helping to make this project possible.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Answer not a fool according to his folly, lest thou also be like him—Proverbs 26.4.

These clumsy feet still in the mire
Go crushing blossoms without end
These hard, well meaning hands we thrust
Among the heart strings of a friend
Earth holds no balsam for mistakes
Men crown the knave and scourge the tool
That did his will but Thou, O Lord,
Be merciful to me a fool

WHEAT MONEY.

Paper money would be based on the value of wheat, instead of gold or silver, by a plan being advocated among some of England's economists

Wall Street would hoot at the notion But the British chancellor of the exchequer, while for the present opposed to the idea, apparently is not sure that it mightn't work He says

"Such a refinement of current policy may be theoretically sound, but it has never yet been tested, and in any case it is surely desirable for us first to get back to that approximation of stability which the gold standard supplies and to which the world before 1914, was thoroughly accustomed

It would be a fine joke on Americans, if after cornering nearly four ninths of the world's total gold supply, we woke up some morning to find that other countries had discarded gold as the basis of money

If wheat displaced gold as the backing of paper currency you'd get, for instance, a bank note worth 10 bushels of wheat or equivalent buying power instead of $10 in gold or silver

Such a currency system would be a madhouse unless some method were adopted for stabilizing the price of wheat For, with wheat price fluctuating daily, purchasing power of paper money also would go up and down daily

Wall Street would gleefully manipulate wheat price as it now manipulates stocks No one could hold money with any certainty of what its purchasing power would be tomorrow

Money based on wheat might be a fine thing for the wheat farmer Since the war boom collapsed he has seen the purchasing power of his wheat decline faster than the buying power of the dollars for which he exchanged his wheat, expanded

With money based on wheat the farmer would exchange his wheat for a piece of paper in the form of a mortgage on the products of an expenditure of labor in other industries equivalent to the labor devoted to raising the wheat

The relative standard of values would be intricate, hard to adjust no two people agreeing

China invented the world's first paper money in the year 650 Europe did not have bank notes until the bank of England was chartered in 1694

Those first Chinese bank notes were redeemable in gold or silver, same as now. Of all tools of civilization money is the only one that hasn't changed materially.

But the keen interest aroused by Henry Ford's attack on the gold standard shows that the public is not satisfied with the money system inherited from China. When a change comes what will take the place of gold? Wheat energy or mutual confidence?

NOT A QUESTION OF PROFITS

In order for its final sporting edition, which will be resumed Tuesday to be a profitable undertaking in itself, The Times would have to sell between 1200 and 1500 copies daily that is more papers than The Times could reasonably expect to sell every day although there were some days last year when the sales far exceeded 1500

The sporting extra, however enables The Times to furnish baseball and other late afternoon news to Wichita Falls and Northwest Texas far ahead of any other publication and to render a service to the public that is not to be measured by the dollars and cents standard A progressive newspaper must often spend money for news and service when there is no hope of a direct return on the expenditure

THE MISSING INGREDIENT.

The indispensable element in any international gathering such as that at Genoa is mutual confidence It seems to be entirely absent at Genoa just now, and as a result there is scant reason to expect any worth while results, not only that there is some danger that Europe will be worse off than ever as a result of the situation there for distrust and prejudice are being plentifully bred

Before Germany and Russia are again permitted to sit in council with the nations of the world they must show their worthiness of confidence There are laws and processes that protect a business man who has to deal with those he distrusts nations in their trading have no such safeguards

Detroit man claims his car has run 200,000 miles. Perhaps he loaned it to a friend

Luxuries are still so high we have to go without some necessities.

DELICIOUS FOODS.

If you work sitting at a desk all day you should eat more meat than the man who saws wood or carries a hod

Well says so? Dr Thomas M Carpenter, physiological chemist of a Boston nutrition laboratory.

The desk worker, Carpenter says, needs more meat to keep him warm This he artificially secures the necessary heat which the hod-carrier and wood sawer generate by muscular effort

The Carpenter line of thought is that food, in the last analysis, bears the same relation to the body that coal does to a furnace Heat is the ultimate object

Can a stenographer live on chocolate sundaes and candy? Some of them come close to demonstrating it in the affirmative

Back of all this is heavy science, expounded by Dr Carpenter, as follows

A normal stenographer, during the course of a day, uses up 2222 calories That is the average. The girl who types by the touch system needs fewer calories than the typist who attacks the keys like a chicken picking up corn, and accordingly should eat less

Gum chewing uses up a terrific amount of energy, which requires heavier eating than in the case of a chicle abstainer

A lunch, consisting of a chocolate sundae and some candy, furnishes the typist 1500 calories, or more than a third as much as a hard working carpenter requires daily

Topping off this interesting discourse, Dr Carpenter figures scientifically that a sundae, if thoroughly absorbed by the system has a calorific heating power sufficient to raise a ton of coal three stories

While it might be wise for people without cast-iron stomachs to take some of this food science with a grain of salt it recently was expounded as gospel by Dr Carpenter before the Harvard Medical school

The im[illegible] fact is that scientists are finally beginning to get at "original truth" in the matter of diet, and that some of the accepted notions about food values may be due for an explosion

Until the investigation is nearer completion, a good average rule is to keep in mind the old saying that most of us dig our graves with our teeth.

Our 13,000,000 bachelors believe troubles never come singly

It is always fair weather until picnics get together

Too small a navy might endanger the permanent wave in our flag

Every man has his price, but the man who gives himself away isn't worth very much

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

THE SURGEON.

The little man had been ill for a long time He had been very patient The doctor had done his best—but he had gone as far as his skill was able to work

And so then we sent for the surgeon He was a medium sized stocky man, with a keen eye and a sure brain You immediately felt his sympathy and knew his largeness of heart These were dominantly a part of his equipment

The operation called for unusual skill and judgment But we trusted the surgeon for both We gave the brave young chap to his care and told him we trusted him

With accurate sureness of eye and with fingers that obeyed, the surgeon did his work And he did it well

And then they laid the patient tenderly on his bed for the white robed nurses to attend The following hours were full of discomfort and anxiety, but the surgeon brought cheer and hope to them every time his presence was in evidence

Just the minute he entered the room the very atmosphere took on a hue of hope.

You could see that this surgeon was giving every energy at his command to the work of his profession He loved it because behind it all there was a great background of service that urged him to each fresh task

Soon the one we loved came home Color came back to his cheeks and with it the smiles so characteristic of other days

What the surgeon did for this particular life was but a fraction of what he is doing every day in the year for others When he rises in the morning his first thoughts are of those who need him and whom he loves to serve He rests only that he may be strong to help

And all over the world the story is the same Little does the world realize how much the surgeon gives—receiving so many times, nothing but the satisfaction of having given

One day I saw God coming across Fifth avenue in New York City in the form of a little boy leading a blind man Another time I saw Him taking flowers to one who was ill And not long ago I saw Him as a surgeon holding within his province the life of a boy—my boy!

How could I help but believe in Him?

JUST FOLKS —By— Edgar A. Guest

THE RICH IN SPIRIT.

There is no door to sorrow barred.
Grief holds contemptuous disregard
Of pride and pomp and fortune's gold.
And pleasures which are bought and sold,
In this the rich and poor are kin.
Death calls and all must let him in

Still there are rich men in woe,
And plainly does the difference show
As one with wealth may grace his board
With food the poorer can't afford,
So one who's richer in belief [redacted]
Has more to soothe the pang of grief

The man of greater faith can bear
His hours of anguish and despair,
His lonely days and nights and weeks
With peace which money vainly seeks;
Faith can a wealth of strength supply
Which gold and silver cannot buy

Just as the rich of purse provide
Comforts to poorer men denied
So those of greater faith, in woe,
Have dreams the faithless cannot know,
Rich of spirit they can face
The days of grief with nobler grace

HAMBONE'S MEDITATIONS

YOU AND I

By ALBERT APPLE

Judge Gary, American business man's oracle is optimistic thinks business will continue to increase, with better times ahead

Same prediction comes from leaders of nearly every important industry And producers back them up

The country is running into a period of big physical volume of business Profits may be low or nonexistent for some time But that doesn't matter much

Get people buying heavily That is the important thing It starts money circulating Given that profits and prosperity will quickly adjust themselves to normal

STRATEGY.

Coal operators banked on big open shop production to make the coal strike anemic They are outguessed by the strike leaders who center their attack on the Connellsville coke district

This is master strategy because the blow fell where it was least expected The union coal miners have been laying for the Connellsville coke crowd for 20 years

Steel industry a bystander suffers as its coke supply is partly shut off Judge Gary admits even United States Steel's coke supply is only 54 per cent normal Without their big reserve stocks steel mills would have to lay off many men

Talk about stopping war between nations Why not experiment at home with fair to all methods for preventing industrial warfare?

POLITICS.

Queensland Australia gets tired of deadlocks between the two houses of its parliament or congress So it abolishes the upper house corresponding to our senate and adopts the single chamber system as in western Canadian provinces

England seriously considers eliminating its house of lords

In coming years there'll be similar talk about abolishing our national senate The senate and the house however are designed to operate as checks on each other

The United States senate is a constant reminder that our country is a league of nations—states

NEGROES.

We could solve one of our race problems by sending our negroes to colonize Germany's former colonies in Africa This suggestion is made seriously by Dr Heinrich Schnee who used to be governor of German East Africa

American negroes however might make considerable rumpus before consenting to be restored to their lost provinces World's supply of ships couldn't begin to handle the traffic

In making his suggestion seriously Doc Schnee discloses that Europe is informed on American conditions about as accurately as Americans are informed on Europe

LANTERN.

Paul Revere began his famous ride summoning our colonial ancestors to arms when he saw a lantern flash as a signal in the tower of the Old North church

Boston has just celebrated the one hundred and forty seventh anniversary of that lantern hanging real birthday of our independence and republican form of government

America develops traditions as it gets along in years May we be more fortunate and sensible in our selection of traditions than the Old World

FINE!

Northern Pacific railway employes who entered military service during the war totaled 3,977 Of these 2,597 have returned and applied for their old jobs

And every one of the applicants has been taken care of to date says J M Rapelje the road's vice president

Some business men might tack this up in place of the Do it now and Don't park here! signs over their desks

A swordfish, weighing 75 pounds was recently killed off No Man's Land, Mass, by sending an electric current through the steel harpoon

Texas Viewpoints

Sherman Democrat It is not only as Shakespeare says in the profound soliloquy of the morose and troubled Hamlet, 'the dread of something after death" that restrains the large majority of persons from wanton self-destruction but the natural longing to live and the sane conviction that hope is a substantial certainty associated with life

The higher and sounder reason is the moral principle that life is an endowment which is conferred on us and which we must keep in trust and use well until it is taken from us, when it is to our best advantage to be relieved of it Life itself is a natural favor, yet its utility and benefit are not determined by the act of living, but by the spirit and manner

The charitable and scientific explanation of most suicides is that they result from intense emotional or mental strain, in which the equilibrium of reason is unbalanced Remorse worry disaster illness, adversity trouble despair erroneous point of view and one or another of similar causes leads to excessive and uncontrollable agitation of the mind

There are more suicides during a period of severe commercial depression, such as we have passed through, or during a time of extreme emotional despondency and excitement such as the war and the first few years after its conclusion than in eras of prosperity and happiness Keen worry and deep sorrow shattering the nerves and unsettling the mind are the obvious causes

The sad case of Mrs Harmon Fancher of Newark N J the spiritualist who killed her baby and tried to take her own life in order to watch over and counsel her husband from the spirit world is a clear example of the consequences of abnormal point of view In her case too, there was exaggerated emotional perturbation

No maxims are truer than that life is precious and as long as there's life there's hope Everything is to be gained by being courageous in trouble or misfortune and living bravely with the firm purpose of traveling again into happiness and prosperity Grief illness and adversity are just as sure as pleasure health and bright fortune and they come and go like the latter We must fight our fights to the end and not give up life until it is taken away from us

Fastland Oil Belt News It is not for us to dampen the enthusiasm of the optimistic promoters of a great railroad that will have its origin in Fort Worth its terminus somewhere between the eastern cap rock of the plains and the setting sun and which will split in twain that great territory lying between the Fort Worth and Denver and the Texas and Pacific railroads It all sounds good particularly to the people out in west Texas who are desirous of getting better and quicker connection with the markets of the world No longer are the times propitious for the promotion of railroads and this particular scheme has been discussed and rediscussed for the past 30 years Party after party of surveyors have left Fort Worth going west filled with hope and ambition but they never obtained their objective at least their railroad dream is still a dream and not a reality In point of fact there is little indeed to make an investment in railroad securities attractive to the public nowadays and big systems running through rich territory and out of debt are having hard sledding making both ends meet Year by year the automobile traffic cuts into the revenue of the railroads and labor unions on one side and tie them up so that there is little chance of making any great deal of money even when times are good A railroad such as that projected west from Fort Worth would traverse some good territory but it would also run through a great deal of unproductive territory as well It would require an immense amount of capital to build it and provide rolling stock and there would be no guarantee of its earning dividends then It is quite likely that traffic from the plains will continue to move towards the markets over the lines already tapping that section unless there is some great and unlooked for change in the railroad situation

LEARN A WORD EVERY DAY.

Today's word is exacerbate

Its pronounced—eg zas er-bayt with accent on the second syllable

It means—to irritate, to annoy, to make bitter, to exasperate

It comes from—Latin 'exacerbare' to irritate

Companion word—exacerbation

Its used like this—'Service men were exacerbated when they returned home and found themselves jobless

DYSPEPSIA

By DR R H BISHOP

Look out for appendicitis if you are often a victim of dyspepsia chronic appendicitis often causes acute pain and dyspepsia

Dyspepsia is the most common ailment in this country It is the price we Americans often pay for our hustle and bustle

The chief cause of the ailment and the one most easily prevented is lack of sufficient mastication of food We too often dont take the time necessary to chew our food thoroughly and hence swallow it in masses which the stomach cannot take care of

But even then there would be a vastly less indigestion were it not for the fact that we live under such high pressure that we do not give the digestive organs time and strength sufficient to take care of the food that is put into them, for digestion depends upon the presence of good pure blood

Such a blood supply is not present when we use that blood for active muscular exercise, or for solving business problems

To be sure that the blood supply gets a chance to get down into the digestive organs we should always relax both mentally and physically while eating and shortly thereafter.

Good digestion demands freedom from care and worry Any emotional disturbances have a bad effect on your digestion Hence you complain of dyspepsia

The stomach is always easily disturbed by reflex action from other organs For instance eye strain is apt to give you chronic dyspepsia, through its effect on the gastric secretions

Spudders Continue to Hit But Hurlers Are Unable to Stop Cats

All were looking another bombardment similar to one staged Saturday A few e started but Joe Pate always naged to rise to the occasion en it became absolutely neces- y and the Salmites were forced be content with the short end of count

The Spudder skipped sent five of hurlers to the hill during the rse of the nine innings but Steve kan was the only one of the quin- who apparently possessed a ng Steve worked only one and o-thirds innings and he retired five batters who faced him hout one reaching first Th ew four—Bowman, Newkirk ailer and Ramsey—either failed locate the plate or served them ers the Cats wanted them The dders weren't outhit, but the e outpassed and the Cats gar- ed their knocks when tho ant runs leventeen Spudders were used by m in an effort to get away with contest. In addition to the five chers, three center fielders and pinch hitters ere sent into the y. Two of their nine hits were ch blows collected by Babe Ruth Buddy Tanner, while four of the aining seven were divided be- en Jake Miller and Al White h of whom contributed a circuit and a single

White Crashes a Couple.

l White started his first game he championship season at sec- base and his work, especially n the stick, found high favor n the fans The former Oakland er hit the ball on the nose ry time he appeared at the plat- and his drive over the left field l accounted for three tallies as e were two aboard at the time single in the sixth was ulti- ely converted into a run also he scored soon after on Buddy ner's pinch single

Rabbit' Tavener was the big n in the side of the Spudder . Tavener's stick, which is al- t as big as himself, was directly onsible for four Panther mark- His long sacrifice fly in the d sent the first one over, his ble to left center in the fifth cked in two more and his sin- in the seventh game the in- ders their last run.

Panthers Score by Two's.

Two more were added by the ers in the second on Moore's , Pate's double, a wild pitch let Moore score and nent Pate rd and Coombs' sacrifice fly. owman tried once more in the ing to stem the tide, but practical- the same combination as was in the two preceding rounds brought into play again and her pair of counters resulted auer singled, Hoffman walked, an doubled and Tavener kicked with a sacrifice fly.

im then decided that Bowman received enough and when the th opened Newkirk was doing honors He was a bit more essful than Bowman, in that he scored on only once in this ter. The run could have been ented had White's throw to k in an effort to complete a ble play been accurate Pate ked and was forced at second on mbs roller to Adams White ew to the club house, however the same play and Coombs ped to third, scoring on Sears rifice fly.

White fouled one over the field fence and then straight- d one out a bit more and drop- it over in fair territory, ac- nting for three runs.

e Panthers came back again in fifth, however, and collected r allotment of two before New- was withdrawn. Stellbauer ked and Hoffman singled. Phelan them up a notch with a pretty rifice and after they had both ed on Tavener's double Mokan t in Mokan retired the next men and Tavener was left nded

Spudders Raise Hopes.

he Salmites were perfectly mless in the fifth as were the s in the first of the sixth The dders raised the fans' hopes in the sixth a bit, however, when they added two more to their total Miller's terrific clout over the left field barrier accounted for the first After the second man had been retired Wright singled to center Tavener kicked Kitchens' roller and White counted when Tanner, hitting for Mokan delivered a single to center Bischoff went in to do the honors for O'Brien, but his best was a drive to Phelan which was converted into an easy out

Ramsey was on the mound when the Cats came to bat in the seventh and they counted once off him on Hoffman's double and Tavener's single.

The home boys were helpless in the seventh, but made their total seven in the eighth Adams singled to right with one away and when Hoffman dropped Pate's peg with an easy double in sight on White's roller both men were safe Kitchens made it two away by grounding to Phelan Ruth hit for Ramsey and came through with a slashing single to center which sent the runners over, but he was later forced at second by Bischoff for the final out

With the fans still pulling for a victory in the ninth Summa led off with a single, but he was forced at second by McDonald and Beck popped to Hoffman Hoffman made the final putout when Miller hit to Phelan and forced McDonald

COMEDION ALTROCK OUTDOES WILLIAM TELL

Nick Altrock on the ground offering his nose as a tee for the golf ball. Walter Johnson and Stanley Harris looking on with Jim Thompson, southern professional, doing the driving.

Nick Altrock, famous comedian of Washington baseball club, is thing if not original

meone told Nick the story about illiam Tell shooting the apple off is son's head with his trusty bow and arrow

That sounded interesting to Nick, so he decided to go William Tell one better

Nick conceived the idea of placing a golf ball on his nose, as a substitute for a tee, and having said ball driven off the nose

'Anyone who has ever seen me and therefore is familiar with the size of my nose will appreciate the great danger entailed in pulling this stunt,' is the way Nick explains it

Nick insists there are any number of golfers he would not allow to drive the ball, among them being Babe Ruth.

"You know Babe often swings where the ball ain't and this is no trick when the golfer doesn't hit the ball It immediately becomes a serious accident '

PASSING OF LIVELY BALL CHANGES STYLE OF PLAY

The bunt in baseball is due to come back

The season of 1922 is certain to see a revival of the bunt as an offensive weapon

The lively ball and a desire to emulate the deeds of Babe Ruth has crowded the bunt off the baseball map for several years

The bunt is a one-run play It means much to get a one-run advantage under the ordinary conditions For several years however, one run has meant nothing in the life of a ball team

The lively ball always opened up possibilities for getting runs in clusters For that reason most teams kissed the bunt goodby placed it securely away with the moth balls

With a less lively ball and better pitching the bunt is sure to return to popular favor during the 1922 season

It's a great method to put the opposition in the air, throw a pitcher off his stride, one of baseball's most dangerous weapons on offense

Sport Shots

By PAUL W. LARKIN

Don't Mind Rain.

Even old J Pluto can't keep the crowd away when the Cats show here The game started in a heavy downpour but there were over 3 000 fans on hand And they stuck until the last man was out

McDonald Stopped.

After getting at least one blow in every game thus far this season Tex McDonald was finally stopped by Joe Pate He failed to connect yesterday out of five trips to the plate.

Unsportsmanlike.

Wichita Falls fans are generally regarded as the fairest to all teams and players around the circuit and it is seldom that anything can be said against them, but the actions of a few Sunday and the remarks directed at Frank Kitchens were anything but sportsmanlike

Kitchens in Slump.

'Kitch' is in a terrible hitting slump, but nobody realized that any more than he Its the one thing that a batter detests and does his utmost to avoid or overcome if he falls into it Frank never fell into one such as this since he has been with the Spudders and simply because he has failed to hit the agate into safe territory some of the fans have taken it upon themselves to ride him Frank is hitting the ball every day, but his blows aren't going safe

Fans Soon Forget.

Frank is the peer of Texas league backstops Certain newspapers around the circuit last fall published 'all-star' selections by the fans It was interesting to note that Kitchens was chosen more than any one man for a position Have some of the local fans forgotten the number of games Frank broke up last year? Frank took his razing yesterday like the real sportsman that he is He looked into the stands and smiled He's too experienced a ball player to let anything like that bother him He knows he'll recover in due time But it's not to the credit of certain fans to get on him A few words of encouragement would help more.

Mokan Cracks Five.

Pittsburgh seems to have the correct combination in right field with Rohwer and Mokan Johnny kicked in with four singles and a double yesterday out of five trips to the plate while Rohwer always gives account of himself when in there.

Dope Seems to Be Off.

The season is too young yet, maybe, to pick flaws in the advance dope handed out by different critics but those who picked Washington as a contender in the American league and Shreveport in the Texas have plenty of food for thought at present

Spudders Go on Road.

The Spudders leave tonight for Fort Worth where they stop off for one game before going to Shreveport for four, Dallas for the same number and returning to the Panther city for four It's opening day in Shreveport Wednesday, but the Gassers can hardly be expected to "kop the kup" this year

Although the jinrickshaw is part of our mental picture of Japan a Philadelphia clergymen invented this horseless carriage less than a hundred years ago while paying a visit to the orient

NEW YORK TEAMS GO BACK INTO LEAD

Giants Have Margin of Two Games And Yankees Are Leading By Half a Game.

NEW YORK April 24—Playing the brand of ball that carried them to the top last season the Yankees and Giants swung into their third week of the major league campaign today, leading the race in both circuits The Yankees with Waite Hoyt in rare form and Frank Baker wielding a wicked bludgeon blanked Washington, making it four straight from the Senators As Cleveland lost—its third consecutive game—to Ty Cobb's rejuvenated Tigers the New Yorkers had a margin of two full games

Brooklyn continued under the spell of the Giants jinx and lost its sixth out of eight games with McGraw's men This victory put New York half a game ahead of the Cubs who met a 14 3 defeat at the hands of the Pirates

It was the sixth straight for the Pittsburghers whose all round play has been a feature of the past week

Kenneth Williams hit his fourth homer in two days aiding the Browns to beat the White Sox 4 to 3 while Van Gilder hung up his third straight win

Ineffective pitching and weakness at bat cost Cincinnati its seventh straight reverse St Louis taking advantage of the Red slump A peculiar feature of the game was that Hornsby second sacker of the Cards did not have an official time at bat getting four bases on ball and registering sacrifice on his fifth trip

High Brothers May Equal Record of Famous Delehanty

The High brothers may equal the record of the Delehanty family which contributed four brothers to the majors

Three of the family have already graced the big show and a fourth brother now in school hopes to keep the family name of High in a prominent place on the sport page

Hughie High the oldest brother formerly with Detroit and New York in the American league is now with Vernon in the Pacific Coast league He is through as far as the majors are concerned

Andy High, second of the noted family, is with the Brooklyn club He is a third baseman and hopes to some day supplant Jimmy Johnston at that position for the Dodgers

Charlie the youngest, had a brief trial with the Athletics He is now with Portland in the Pacific Northwest league

Despite the fact that Charlie tarried only a short while with the Athletics in the big show, his two older brothers insist he is the best player in the family Charlie is only 27

Hughie and Charley are outfielders Andy started out as a guardian of the distant pastures, but early decided that he preferred the infield

Both Hughie and Andy are short in stature but Charley is a six footer

MAN'S AMBITIONS CERTAIN TO LOSE IN THE CLASH WITH LAWS, JUDGE KAY TELLS S. S. CLASS

Man is surrounded by moral and social laws that he cannot break and get away with it Judge John C Kay told his Bible class of the M E church south at the Olympic theater Sunday morning A total of 181 men were present

'We have to live according to the rule and according to the Book said Judge Kay in making it plain that the desire of man to do as he pleases the sum of nearly all ambitions cannot be fulfilled Judge Kay said

'What do we mean when we talk about ambition? That great word ambition Does it mean pride? Does it mean selfishness? What does it mean? Nobody knows exactly what is means because to every man it has its own individual meaning—it fires the yearnings the desires the purposes of that particular heart It can have no higher meaning for him than his own desires his own wants his own plans and his own purposes so that it might mean one thing to one man and another to another but to every man it means power A man says I want a job Now he does not want a job Does he want the money that he will get for the work? No he does not want that but he does want the dynamical energy of power that that money will bring

'A man goes out here to dig an oil well Does he want to dig an oil well? Why no! Does he want any oil? No 25 cents worth of oil would last him a year Does he want money? No But here is the way he reasons If I can go out here and put down a wildcat and strike oil and get some money then I will be in sight of the things that I do want

'Now does a man want to be president of the United States? No If that office was considered merely in its burdens no one would approach it but he wants to say to another go and he goes and to another come and he comes so that it is power that we want and it is power that we are crazy about it is not money and it is not work and it is not effort but the ability to do and to have those things that seem good to us

'Of course once in a while there is an old crazy miser that wants money to stack it up and to count it He is beyond redemption, he does not event want to see his money he just wants to count it and say that he has got it away from the crowd and is going to keep it A man like that is of less use to the community than any dead stump in the world

'Now it does not bring the things that we expect it to bring A man is mostly like the green country boy at the county fair that expects the pea to be under the wrong shell And so it was that Adam situated in his bright Eden with all the beauty of its flowers and all the witchery of the music of its birds makes a wrong selection and is driven forth into the world to battle for himself

Do you aspire to be a great leader? Before you set yourself up as a candidate for higher leadership just remember Moses coming through all the miseries of his leadership and standing at last on the naked mountains of Moab looking into the blue haze of the Promised Land beyond Jordan It is denied to him that he shall ever get there at last

Leadership is not the thing we think it is He goes on his long journey through the wilderness on these islands and listens to the songs of the sirens and that fought the savages and when he comes home nobody but his old dog knows him and it broke the dog s heart to see him get home

When you think about what you want leadership remember Napoleon dying in a storm down there on that island, with no power and no glory left unto him far from his friends far from his throne his soul going out in a storm and his leadership empty and nothing left

'This old king wanted power He did not know it for a long time Let me say to you men that you do not know what fire is burning in your heart Let me say to you that you do not know and you cannot know what possibility for good plans or for evil plans may rise up in your brain and in your heart This man was a good man for a long time

'This old king at last decided there was nothing he could not do You know all of us have that idea in some degree that we can do anything just a little better than anybody else and that whilst we might not have as much experience whilst we might not have as much ability with just a little effort we could do anything anybody else can do It is a foolish idea. It grows more foolish in this day of specialists than it was in his time but he decided he could touch the sacred things that he was big enough to minister about the altar that even the sacred vessels on the altar of the church were not sacred to him

Now that is a dangerous condition of mind There are some things that it never was intended you should do some things that you are not fitted to do some things that are beyond you and above me that we must not touch that we must keep hands off

Now this man goes on in there anyhow he takes hold of the church takes hold of the altar takes hold of the vessels and he comes out leprous

'You know that is the tragedy of humanity to me no matter what heights a man reaches no matter what his power or what his fame or what his greatness he comes at last to seclusion and to silence and to emptiness without power without fame and not even trusted with responsibility

"How different was General Grant up there with a million men about him when he says I am going to fight it out on this line if it takes all summer' and that poor fellow up there at the Springs in New York with the sore in his throat helpless without power, with ambition without strength emptiness

"What is the lesson in it for us all? Is it to put aside ambition not to have any ambition? What is it that Shakespeare makes Woolsey say to one of the Cromwells when he was dying? 'Put aside ambition Another great man that came to emptiness and to nothing

'Put aside ambition? I would not say that to a young man You know I never felt about pride like the preachers You know I would not want to live in a community where the people didn t have any pride That is the thing that makes us have clothes build houses and roads and paint the houses and set out the rose bushes and a thousand things that we do that are good

'What is the trouble then with ambition and pride that it will let us out beyond our depth? May a poor fellow has been elected justice of the peace and immediately imagined himself stepping step by step up to a United States senatorship And you elect a man to the legislature, average man What does he want? Not to serve the people in the legislature, he has got beyond that he is laying his plans to get to congress or to elect himself to the United States senate and he wants to be president of the United States

You know the finest thing for you to learn is where you belong I am talking to you plainly this morning It is failure to recognize that great principle that has got more men into trouble than anything I know about It took me about 45 years to find that out Some of you fellows have not found it out yet For instance in the spending of money Young men hear me especially on this You see some fellow out here spending a lot of money he seems to get a new cadillac when he wants it he takes trips to the far places when he wants to and you think that you can do that I will tell you why you cannot and you do not need a slate pencil to figure it out That fellow is spending interest and you are spending the principal

Now there is a difference between the strong man that is spending interest and cutting a dish in the world it looks like his money doesn t go any further than your money But it does I will tell you why at the end of the year he still has all he had yours is gone whether your money is the nest egg is gone Don t try to keep up with that kind of a man and find out where you belong and when you make an earnest effort to find out where you belong you don t belong as high as you thought

That was the trouble with the king and is the trouble with a great many men most of the men they do not know where they belong and they rush into places where angels fear to tread

I have got so I can pass by a show window and hardly look in at all You have to learn to do that You do not want to let ambition carry you beyond your depth nor pride carry you beyond your depth Of course the ambition to spend money is an ambition in itself for power you do not spend it for the sake of spending it the spender even doesn t do that but he spends it in order that he may convince the community that he is a mighty man

I say that men want power The prettiest sign I ever saw on the street in my life was a little sign Power and Light That s as good a bunch of words as you could ever get together I want you to think about that a little If you can get them to go together you are all right For most men not caring for the light but want the power by itself They must go together or they will not go it all Light will enable you to know where you belong it will enable you to know what you can do and what you must leave undone and what you must let alone

I am telling you some things that cost me a great deal to find out and it is free to you These lessons are lessons of life They are the unbreakable principles of the ages You cannot drive around them you can not escape them any more than you can escape the other things in the Bible and I believe you can escape these only with more difficulty than anything else What do we mean by power' We started out by asking a question We will wind up by asking one Not the force that turns the wheels What is it to me if a big fly wheel down there stopped That is not the power I am talking about not horsepower not kilowatts I will tell you a little secret the thing men are talking about when they are working for power and have ambition for power is the power to do as they please That is what he means Hear me young man that is answer to power If I can seize these things that I long for I will do as I please Hear me further when I tell you that no man ever did get away with it that you are surrounded by a thousand laws that prevent the accomplishment of such a desire physical laws and it was a physical law I meant a law of his physical well being that wrecked this old king s mentality has broken down

Moral laws that surround you they are as unbreakable as the commandments of Moses Social laws You cannot sin against the welfare of your neighbor There is no power on earth or in heaven to enable you to do as you please as against your neighbor because heaven hasn t any power for wrong but only for righteousness Educational laws We have to take each of them and live up to them and give them to other men or perish Religious laws It is not only our duty to be religious but to persuade other men to be so and to persuade them more by example than by talking That is another of our duties so then the most foolish life and the weakest life is the idea if I was fixed right I can do as I please You can never do it And if you attempt to do it you will come back from the expedition broken in body broken in spirit broken in mentality naked and ashamed in the presence of the world Then what have we to do if we do not do that We have to live according to the rule of right according to the Book By man has to do that or perish and the laws of life are for all of us No one can violate them and I am talking about our laws as well as heavenly laws Neither the king on the throne nor the beggar on the street we all have to live up to them and whenever we go out to seek to do as we please we can only meet with disaster

TIMES DAILY MARKETS

COTTON MARKET.

New York Cotton.

NEW YORK April 24—There was some scattered liquidation of May contracts at the opening of the cotton market here in preparation for possible notices tomorrow This accounted for an opening decline of two points on the nearby months but positions were 3 to 11 points higher and the offerings of May were soon absorbed by covrings New Orleans was considerable seller here at the start but Liverpool the continent and commission houses were buyers with July selling up to 17.90 and the market soon showing net advances of 2 to 15 points No rain of importance was reported in the south over the holiday but temperatures were unfavorably low in some sections of the belt and Liverpool made steady showing notwithstanding the failure to reach an agreement in the Lancashire labor situation

After selling about 12 to 19 points net higher on the early bulge with May advancing to 18.04 and October 17.[illegible] trading became less active and prices were a few points off from the best around midday The low temperatures reported in the south seemed to be causing some nervousness and there was a report of too much rain in Oklahoma but these features failed to bring in much buying above the 17¾ cents level for new crop positions May held relatively steady on the setback and after having sold about 40 points over July earlier showed a premium of 15 points early in the afternoon hour

This mess was comparatively quiet during the middle of the afternoon and prices showed little further change with July ruling around 17.[illegible] and October 17.6[illegible] or 7 to 10 points not higher

New Orleans Cotton.

NEW ORLEANS April 24—After declines of 5 to 6 points during the opening call today under selling the cotton market steadied up on covering stimulated by rains in the west in belt and prospects that they would extend eastward across the cotton region at the end of the first half hour of trading prices were from 7 points higher than last week s close May fell off to 16.[illegible] and then advanced to 17.90

The advance continued on mounting to 50 to 60 points May 17.[illegible] but when quotations were received from various local brokers saying that it had not rained in the eastern country to last week s rain is feit that there was danger of a flood Southern of 400 oil mill workers a new selling movement developed Prices were sent to the lowest point of the day May sagging to 16.[illegible] and new lows for the day and on the decline on that month of 8 points

The cotton market closed steadily at a net decline of 8 to 15 points

GRAIN AND PRODUCE

CHICAGO April 24—With the beginning of May deliveries only a week off the wheat market showed a tendency early today to rise in price for May but to decline for later months The difficulty of filling contracts for May deliveries was shown by a reduction in the United States visible supply total On the other hand believers in lower prices put stress on advices that Canadian wheat was already being imported at a profit duty paid Opening prices which varied from unchanged figures to 1¼ cents higher with May 1.[illegible] to 4[illegible] and July 1.23 to 1.23¾ were followed by moderate fluctuations in which May continued well above Saturday s finish with July and September below that level

Selling on the part of houses with eastern connections led to a material setback all around in wheat prices today Absence of export buying together with arrivals of Canadian wheat at Minneapolis had a pronounced bearish influence that more than counterbalanced price upturns with which May wheat closed

The close was unsettled ½ to 2 cents net lower with May $1.56¾ to $1.[illegible] and July $1.[illegible] to $1.28¾

Seaboard demand gave a little firmness to corn After opening unchanged to ½ to ¾ cents higher corn held at about the initial range Later the weakness of wheat counted as a bearish factor Corn closed easy 1c to 1c net lower with July [illegible] to 6[illegible]

Oats sympathized with corn starting a shade off to ¼ cent higher July 41½ to 41¾ and later hardened a little more

Lower hogs tended to make provisions lower
